RESUME FIGHT UPON JOBS BUREAU TODAY

Further attempts at elimination of the United States Employment Service will be made today before the joint session of the House and Senate Labor Committees.

Stanley R. Lynn, of the transportation section of the service, will be heard by the committees, since Congressman Blanton, of Texas, who has charged he could prove through Mr. Lynn the misappropriation of transportation funds.

Mr. Blanton was the principal witness heard yesterday. He was unable to produce witnesses to show that the service is catering to Bolshevism. He obtained permission, however, to appear before the committees again today, but was told he must confine his testimony to the proposed bill appropriating $4,000,000 for the employment service.

Columbia Offers Choice Records

"Fires of Faith," sung by the Peerless Quartet, and "Heart of Humanity," sung by Charles Harrison for Columbia records this month, are the songs that were written for two of the greatest screen successes of the day with the same alliterative titles. The songs re-echo in your brain as strongly as the scenes are imprinted on your memory.

Harry Fox maintains in two character songs that "Anything Is Nice If It Comes from Dixieland" and that "You Can't Blame the Girl at All (They All Want to Marry a Soldier)." Those who have had the privilege of hearing these records seem to agree with him thoroughly.

It was manifestly impossible for so many attractive American girls to go to France for the Y. M. C. A., the Salvation Army, and the Red Cross and not bring back some Gallic heart. Conversely, some of them lost their hearts to brave and fascinating Frenchmen. Arthur Fields records this fact in his song, "Frenchy, Come to Yankee Land." In "Heart-Breaking Baby Doll" Billy Murray breaks the news that all vampires are not brunettes.

New "Vamp" Is a Blonde.
Henry Burr sings "Before I Grew Up to Love You," a song of disappointed love, as a solo, and Campbell and Burr sing the duet "Somebody's Waiting for Some One." Toscha Seidel's violin solo "Oriental" is up to the high standard which this great artist invariably maintains. This unique piece, composed by an artillery officer in the Russian army, has a weird, Oriental strain which will appeal to all lovers of far Eastern music.

And of course there are lots of dances for this first summer after the war. Sweatman's Original Jazz Band plays two fox-trots: "A Good Man Is Hard to Find" and "That's Got 'Em." Earl Fuller's Rector Novelty Orchestra plays the fox-trot "Egyptland" and the medley fox-trot "Mummy Mine." The Jockers Dance

Orchestra plays the medley fox-trot "The Royal Vagabond" and the medley one-step of the same name, in which half a dozen popular favorites are introduced. And the Yerkes Jazz Orchestra jazes the medley one-step "How Ya Gonna Keep 'Em Down on the Farm?" Nora Bayes' latest popular hit, and the medley fox-trot "Mummy O' Mine."

Saxophone Proves Popular.
The saxophone has come into its own in this month's Columbia Records. At one time all the French military bands discarded horns, oboes and bassoons in favor of saxophones. The Columbia Saxophone Sextet has achieved artistic successes in rendering "Chong," last month's song hit, and "Waiting" as medley fox-trots. The saxophone is becoming more and more popular in musical circles, and this double record gives the genuine saxophone tone.

"Longing" is a love song sung by the Steffing Trio for Columbia this month with equally beautiful words and music. A muted cornet, with orchestral accompaniment, plays the chorus as an instrumental interlude with charming effect. The American Quartet, a new Columbia organization, introduces itself with "Lullaby Blues" on the other side of the record. The title is a tongue-twister if you say it fast, but the harmony of the song is excellent.

From now on Jack Kaufman will join his popular brother, Irving, singing for Columbia. This month they tell all about eyes in a duet entitled "Eyes That Say I Love You"—the only kind that appeal to the Kaufman brothers. This song is coupled with "When the Bess Make Honey Down in Sunny Alabama" another duet by the two Kaufmans.

"Turkistan" Has Foreign Lilt.
"Turkistan," a tenor solo sung by Billy Murray and the American Quartet for Columbia Records this month, takes you on a flying trip to foreign parts. "Idol (Just Let Me Worship You)" is a love song very well rendered by Young and Reardon. These two songs on the same record are an unusual combination of high art in popular music.

Marches are, after all, the most characteristic American expressions of enthusiasm. With the parades that are coming, in addition to those that have been held already, there's no such thing as too much enthusiasm.

The "King Cotton March" and "High School Cadet March," those two old favorites, have been played by the Columbia Band this month, and placed on either side of a double record.

Two of the best one-steps played by two of the most famous dance orchestras for the Columbia June records are "Mary Ann" and "Bevo Blues," played respectively by the Waldorf Astoria Dance Orchestra and the Yerkes Jazz Orchestra.

There are saxophones, xylophones, slide trombones, bells and kettles in these two lively jazes.

Louis Graveure Sings "Marsellaise."
Louis Graveure has sung the "Marsellaise" in English for Columbia this month, and the perfect translation together with his superb singing will bring the world's peace of freedom even closer to the hearts of all those who hear him sing it. On the other side of this record Graveure sings the splendidly impressive "Trumpeter."

Barbara Maurel has made records for Columbia of "The Rosary" and "At Dawning." These are two of our American composers' finest songs. "The Rosary" is known around the world, and "At Dawning" is one of the purest melodies of Cadman, who represents our great West, where he lived so long and composed his "Indian" melodies. Maurel's rendering of these two songs, so frequently murdered by amateurs, is an inspiration.

In "Core 'n'grato" Staccardi has found a song that gives full scope to his emotional art. The song is the plaint of an unrequited lover, and the singer rises to his greatest heights in conveying the anguish, the passion, the pain of the yearning lover spurned by his sweetheart.

BUREAU WORKERS TO GET HALF PAY

Four thousand or more employees of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing will receive only half pay during the remainder of this month, owing to a shortage of funds, and because the deficiency bill, now in conference, will not be passed in time to tide over the deficit, it was announced today by James L. Wilmeth, director of the bureau.

The employees of the bureau are provided for under three appropriations. The first, by which employees on the statutory roll are affected, is contained in a legislative bill; the second, in which plate printers and their assistants are concerned, still carries enough money to pay in full; the third appropriation provides for the compensation of the remainder of the bureau's employees. In this appropriation there is a deficit, affecting the above number of workers.

It is expected that a number of plans for summer vacations and Independence Day festivities will be up-set by this complication.

GIRL THIEF CONFESSES.
In twenty-four hours of employment, Grace Pyles, eighteen, stole from Mrs. Milton M. Fenner, of 3204 Kingle road northwest, while she was supposed to be taking care of her two small children, a sapphire and diamond ring, valued at more than $300; a gold wrist-watch and six beautiful earrings. She pleaded guilty before Judge Hardison, in the United States branch of Police Court, and is today being held for the action of the grand jury on a charge of grand larceny.
